DESCRIPTION

This course explores cultural and linguistic diversity as critical variables in achieving educational equity for all students. Major units include intensive theoretical and practical articulation of culture and cultural pluralism; educational issues of race, class, gender, language, ethnicity, and exceptionality; social, structural, programmatic and curricular issues; and effective teaching for diverse populations. This course is intended for students having an interest in diversity and educational issues and is a prerequisite for all teacher credential and graduate program candidates in education. Highly refined oral and written communication, information literacy, and appropriate use of technology are required of professional educators, therefore they are stressed as methods for completing course requirements.

OBJECTIVES

Students completing EDUC 364 will be able to demonstrate:

- understanding of various concepts of culture and their applicability to learning, teaching, curricular development and educational reform;
- understanding of the historical and contemporary contexts for multicultural education;
- familiarity with various instructional methods and materials appropriate for use in multicultural and multilingual educational settings;
- ability to report, interpret analyze and synthesize complex information, and;
- University-level competence in information literacy, use of technology and oral and written communication.

Mission Statement

The mission of the College of Education Community is to collaboratively transform public education by preparing thoughtful educators and advancing professional practices. We are committed to diversity, educational equity, and social justice, exemplified through reflective teaching, life-long learning, innovative research, and ongoing service. Our practices demonstrate a commitment to student centered education, diversity, collaboration, professionalism, and shared governance. (adopted by COE Governance Community, October 1997)

Authorization to Teach English Learners. This credential program has been specifically designed to prepare teachers for the diversity of languages often encountered in California public school classrooms. The authorization to teach English learners is met through the infusion of content and experiences within the credential program, as well as additional coursework. Students successfully completing this program receive a credential with authorization to teach English learners. (approved by CCTC in SB 2042 Program Standards, August 2002)

Students with Disabilities Requiring Reasonable Accommodations. Students are approved for services through the Disabled Student Services Office (DSS). This office is located in Craven Hall 5205, and can be contacted by phone at (760) 750-4905, or TTY (760) 750-4909. Students authorized by DSS to receive reasonable accommodations should meet with their instructor during office hours or, in order to ensure confidentiality, in a more private setting.

Writing. In keeping with the All-University Writing Requirement, all courses must have a writing component of at least 2,500 words (approximately 10 pages) which can be administered in a variety of ways.

In 1992, the College of Education voted to infuse Cross-cultural, Language and Academic Development (CLAD) competencies across the curriculum. The CLAD competencies are attached to the syllabus and the competencies covered in this course are highlighted.

College Attendance Policy

Due to the dynamic and interactive nature of courses in the College of Education, all students are expected to attend all classes and participate actively. At a minimum, students must attend more than 80% of class time, or s/he may not receive a passing grade for the course at the discretion of the instructor. If two class sessions are missed, or if the student is late (or leaves early) more than three sessions, s/he cannot receive a grade of "A". If three class sessions are missed, the highest possible grade that can be earned is a "C+". If extenuating circumstances occur, the student should contact the instructor as soon as possible to make appropriate arrangements. (adopted by the Governance Community of the College of Education on 12/19/97)

Attendance and Participation

The course deals with complex material processed in a variety of ways. Structured interactions, group processes, oral presentations, guided discussion of readings, and self-disclosure exercises are the norm. Students are expected to have read assigned materials by the date indicated in the syllabus, and should be prepared to discuss readings individually or in variously structured groups. The degree of your engagement in these processes forms the basis for points assigned. Due to the fast paced and highly interactive nature of the course, regular attendance and full participation are expected: teaching and learning is difficult (if not impossible) if one is not present for and engaged in the process. Therefore, the above College Attendance Policy is amplified as follows: 1. Missing more than 1 class meeting will result in the reduction of one letter grade. 2. Arriving late or leaving early on more than two occasions will result in the reduction of one letter grade. 3. Illness and emergency circumstances will be considered/negotiated on a case-by-case basis. These measures should not be considered punitive, as students are expected to establish appropriate personal, academic and career-ladder priorities. Therefore these measures should be viewed as taking appropriate individual responsibility for one's own learning in a democratic, collaborative and reciprocal-learning environment.

GRADING

Grading Scale: A=90+, B=80-89, C+=77-79, C=70-76, D=60-69, F=59 or lower. Plus or minus grades are not given except as noted in the following instance. Students taking EDUC 364 as a prerequisite for teacher credential and graduate programs are reminded that the College requires completion of this course with a C+ or higher.

Submission Schedule: Work submitted late, but within one week of the due date will be reduced by one letter grade. Work received over one week late receives no credit.

Grading Emphasis: Each written assignment will be graded approximately 80% on content and context (detail, logic, synthesis of information, depth of analysis, etc.), and 20% on mechanics (grammar, syntax, spelling, format, uniformity of citation, etc.). All citations, where appropriate, will use APA format. Consult Library Services for the Manual of Citation of the American Psychological Association, or other guides to citation.

GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS

Outcomes and Standards: The context for, and scope of this course is aligned with standards for the Cross-cultural Language and Academic Development (CLAD) endorsement, as articulated by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CTC), and as approved by the faculty of the College of Education in development of the program approval documents. Further consideration has been given to the alignment of standards for multicultural education as articulated by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), the Interstate New Teacher Assessment and Support Consortium (INTASC), and the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS). Emphasis is placed on learning outcomes (what you know and can demonstrate) rather than on inputs (putting in "seat time", meeting minimum criteria for assignments, checking off tasks and activities), and how these outcomes correspond to your potential to enhance student learning as a new teacher.

Academic Honesty: It is expected that each student will do his or her own work, and contribute equitably to group projects and processes. If there is any question about academic honesty, consult the University Catalog.

Appeals: Every student has the right to appeal grades, or appeal for redress of grievances incurred in the context of any course. Disputes may be resolved informally with the professor, or through the formal appeal process. For the latter, consult Dr. E. Oliver, Associate Dean.

Ability: Every student has the right to equitable educational consideration and appropriate accommodation. Students having differing ability (mobility, sight, hearing, documented learning challenges, first language/English as a second language) are requested to contact the professor at the earliest opportunity. Every effort will be made to accommodate special need. Students are reminded of the availability of Disabled Student Services, the Writing Center, technology assistance in the computer labs, and other student support services available as part of reasonable accommodation for special needs students.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Assignments:

All assignments are due on the dates indicated. Assignments must be typewritten/word processed, double-spaced and with standard margins. Assignments should reflect university-level composition, exposition, and proofreading. References must be cited using APA style, which will be discussed in class.

Assignment	Points	Due Date
1. Family Background Assignment	10 pts.	September 16
2. Personal History	10 pts.	September 30
3. Literature Presentation and Paper	15 pts.	Papers are due at the time of the Presentation
4. Research Paper and Panel Presentation	25 pts.	Papers are due at the time of the Presentation
5. Outcome Assessment	20 pts.	December 16
6. Attendance and Participation	15 pts.

- 1) Family Background Assignment: By researching and studying one's own background it is possible to gain an appreciation about ways in which we share many similarities and differences.
 - a) In this assignment you are to construct a family 'tree' that includes as much information as you can gather about your family background including religious affiliation, ethnicity, culture, language(s), country of origin, education/occupation and any other information you think is of interest and value.
 - b) The format you use to illustrate the information is up to you. It can be as formal as genealogical tree or informal as a narrative. Of course the depth of this report is somewhat limited by time constraints, personal resources and any information you may have collected prior to this assignment. Please indicate these limitations on your report.
- 2) Personal History: Examining your own culture.
 - a) Write a narrative essay about your own life, describing the experiences that have shaped your views of race, culture, and issues of diversity.
 - b) Reflect on your own experiences in terms of your cultural reference, your family background, your interactions with others unlike yourself, and other factors determined by your own circumstances and your upbringing.
 - c) In this assignment, you will explore within yourself, and commit to written form:
 - i) Your identity as a learner,
 - ii) How this affects your potential as a teacher,
 - iii) Your identity as a member of a particular cultural/racial/ethnic group.
 - iv) Include SPECIFIC examples of events and situations that you feel shaped your views on these issues. Be sure to situate your examples in the context of assumptions about schooling and education. To the extent possible, relate your experiences to the theory and praxis in readings, class discussions and activities.
 - v) Be prepared to discuss your assignment within a larger class dialogue on the due date.
- 3) Literature Presentation and Paper
 - a) In groups of 2 or 3, you will read a book (fiction or non-fiction) written by and about a person from a cultural group different from your own. A list of suggested books is attached to the syllabus.
 - b) The intent of this assignment is to allow the opportunity to experience the world through someone else's eyes as well as to learn about another cultural group.
 - c) Your group will be responsible for developing a presentation to the class about the book, about the cultural group described, and about what you learned. Each presentation will be no more than 20 minutes in length.
 - d) Each individual in the group will be responsible for writing a 3-4 page reaction paper. This paper should focus on your personal reflections about the book and the people/events described. What did you learn about the people described? What did you learn about yourself? How did this book impact your own sense of cultural identity?
 - e) Both the presentation and the paper should make connections between the book and the course content
 - f) Hint: the best presentations will be creative and interactive. The best reaction papers will be thoughtful, serious and respectful of the author's position and views as well as respectful of your own views.

- 4) Research Paper and Panel Presentation. Examining multicultural/multilingual issues selected by each group.
- a) In heterogeneous groups of 3-4 students, you will develop, as a group, a multicultural research paper, which you will formally present to the class.
 - b) Your research should include at least 3 sources from ERIC (be very selective, not everything in ERIC is of high quality), at least 3 sources from the Internet, at least 3 print media sources, and at least one of the texts used in class. References must be exclusive of one another.
 - c) The group's paper will include:
 - i) Cover page listing the title and full names of all group members
 - ii) Abstract of 2-3 paragraphs
 - iii) Narrative describing the issue and its historical context
 - iv) Description of why the issues is significant in the field of education
 - v) Your position on the issue and why you have taken that position
 - vi) Supporting argument for your position with appropriate references
 - vii) Conclusion regarding the issue, with recommendations for action
 - viii) Reference list in APA format
 - ix) Attachments such as your visual aids for the presentation, graphic organizers, or any supplementary material developed to enhance student learning.
 - d) The length of the paper is determined by the degree to which you articulate the requirements outlined above. Depth of analysis is more important than providing in-depth description. In other words, your paper should answer WHY and HOW, more importantly than WHO, WHAT, WHEN, or WHERE.
 - e) The paper should be stapled together, and not placed in any kind of binder. Please put your effort into articulating the issue, not developing some time consuming cover on the computer.
 - f) Panel presentation
 - i) Length: 20 minutes
 - ii) You will present a synopsis of your issue, accompanied by appropriate visual, aural and or tactile aids. The mode of presentation may include skits, simulations, debate, Socratic dialogue, or some other form of multi-modal presentation.
 - iii) Do not read from the text of your paper
 - iv) In addition to the 20 minute presentation, you will plan to respond to questions for no more than 10 minutes. Therefore, your group should be prepared to be "on" for 1/2 hour. It is a group responsibility to practice and time the presentation and Q & A session: presentations which are more than 3 minutes long or short of these parameters will have the grade reduced appropriately (refer to the grading rubric to be distributed separately).
 - v) At the time of your presentation, you will provide each classmate and the professor with a stapled handout, which includes Items 1, 7 and 8, above.
 - vi) Possible Topics for Panel Presentations EDUC 364
 - (1) What are valid and reliable assessment procedures for students?
 - (2) Should we educate the children of undocumented workers? Why?
 - (3) Why would education that is multicultural and social reconstructionist be more appropriate than other models of multicultural education in today's society?
 - (4) What impact has Prop. 227 had on California students?
 - (5) Is multicultural education a valid approach in Mathematics and the Sciences? Why? What indicators exist to suggest that discriminatory patterns persist in these fields and how can multicultural approaches be applied?
- 5) Outcome Assessment. Your opportunity to examine your own learning.
- a) You will select the most important learning or closely related sets of learning you have acquired during the course. You will write in detail:
 - i) what you learned
 - ii) how you knew you were learning something of significance (assessing your own learning)
 - iii) how this will shape your attitudes and demonstrated behaviors as a teacher or in future intercultural interaction
 - iv) how you will demonstrate overall "cultural competence" (as this definition is developed in class)
 - b) Emphasis is placed on your ability to synthesize data around the topic you select, your depth of reflective analysis, your ability to articulate the cognitive, behavioral and affective domains of your learning, and the relationship of this topic to your future growth and professional practice.
 - c) Length is 3-5 pages
- 6) Attendance and Participation. Daily Reflections, Participation in small- and whole-group discussions, and other in- class assignments are counted as part of the participation points.

Panel Presentation Evaluation
EDUC 364

Panel Statement: _____

1. Was the panel topic clearly defined?
2. Did all group members have a significant role?
3. Was the presentation convincing? Did it cover the main arguments necessary to persuade the audience of the topic statement?
4. Did the panel presentation demonstrate effective communication strategies?
