Course Description

This course focuses on curriculum development, methods, techniques, materials, planning, organization, and assessment in social studies. Emphasis is placed on using community-based resources and on the integration of the visual and performing arts and other core curricular areas. Methods of cross-cultural language and academic development are integrated into the course.

Course Prerequisite

Admission to the Multiple Subject Teacher Credential Program. Requires participation/observation in the public schools.

Course Goals and Objectives

The social studies are perhaps the most important part of the school curriculum because they not only bring together basic tools (such as the 3 R's) but utilizes them authentically. In the social studies we wrestle with crucial questions: What kind of society do we want to have? What is a "good citizen"? What is fair? How can we create better ways of living together? Our role as educators is to help students develop responsible and thoughtful ways of thinking, believing and acting.

As your instructor, I am committed to modeling reflective and transparent teaching in order to assist you in successfully achieving the goals of this course.

As a result of this course, you will be able to:

1) apply the California History/Social Science Framework, the State H/SS Standards, the Visual and Performing Arts Framework and related documents to the classroom experience;

2) understand the value of incorporating primary source materials, the arts, and oral history methods and technology into social studies instruction;

3) become aware of the multitude of community resources available to teachers and the ways in which these resources can be used to strengthen the social studies program;

4) design lessons / units that are grade level and developmentally appropriate, that utilize primary source materials, that infuse a multicultural/lingual perspective, and that address the needs of diverse learners;

5) design curricula that reflect a variety of instructional strategies and develop children's higher-level thinking skills through active participation;

6) more deeply appreciate the social sciences and history as a field of study.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

Teacher Performance Expectation (TPE) Competencies

The course objectives, assignments, and assessments have been aligned with the CTC standards for the Multiple Subject Credential. This course is designed to help teachers seeking a California teaching credential to develop the skills, knowledge, and attitudes necessary to assist schools and district in implementing effective programs for all students. The successful candidate will be able to merge theory and practice in order to realize a comprehensive and extensive educational program for all students.

California Teacher Performance Assessment (CalTPA)

Beginning July 1, 2008 all California credential candidates must successfully complete a state-approved system of teacher performance assessment (TPA), to be embedded in the credential program of preparation. At CSUSM this assessment system is called the CalTPA or the TPA for short.

To assist your successful completion of the TPA a series of informational seminars are offered over the course of the program. TPA related questions and logistical concerns are to be addressed during the seminars. Your attendance to TPA seminars will greatly contribute to your success on the assessment.

Additionally, COE classes use common pedagogical language, lesson plans (lesson designs), and unit plans (unit designs) in order to support and ensure your success on the TPA and more importantly in your credential program.

The CalTPA Candidate Handbook, TPA seminar schedule, and other TPA support materials can be found on the COE website provided at the website provided: http://www.csusm.edu/coe/CalTPA/ProgramMaterialsTPA.html

Professionalism/Dispositions (15%)

Because this course is part of an accredited program leading to professional certification, students are expected to demonstrate behavior consistent with a professional career. Lack of professionalism in any of the following areas will alter the final grade:

1. Attend all class meetings. Due to the dynamic and interactive nature of courses in the College of Education, all students are expected to attend all classes and participate actively. Absences and late arrivals/early departures will affect the final grade. At a minimum, students must attend more than 80% of class time, or s/he may not receive a passing grade for the course at the discretion of the instructor. Should the student have extenuating circumstances, s/he should contact the instructor as soon as possible.

For this class, if you are absent 1 day, your highest possible grade is a B. If you are absent 2 days, regardless of the reason, your highest possible grade is a C, which means you will not pass the course. Late arrivals and early departures will affect your final grade. Absences do not change assignment due dates. Late assignments will receive a reduction in points for each day late. Notify instructor in writing (email) as soon as possible if you are absent or know in advance you will not be attending class.

2. Interact professionally and collaborate responsibly with your colleagues and professor. Teacher education is a professional preparation program and students will be expected to adhere to standards of dependability, and academic honesty. Prepare carefully for class, and be ready to discuss readings and assignments thoughtfully.

3. Each written assignment is expected to have a clear organizational presentation and be free of grammar, punctuation and spelling errors. There will be a reduction in points for grammar, punctuation and spelling errors.

4. Complete all assignments on time. Late assignments will receive a 20% reduction in points for each day late. Occasionally a student may be asked to revise an assignment. If so, the revised work must be submitted no later than one week after it was returned and may not be eligible for full credit. Assignments will not be accepted via email except for the case of an absence on the day the assignment is due. If you are absent when an assignment is due, you may submit the work via email (except for Physical Model) so it is not counted late. Please request "return receipt" from your toolbar when submitting an assignment via email due to absence. Receipt of the assignment will be returned by the instructor if this option is utilized when email is sent by the student.

University Writing Requirement

Every course at CSUSM must have a writing requirement of at least 2500 words. In EDMS 544, the Field Trip Project, Oral History Project, Unit Plan, Mock Interview, and Literature Connection will collectively contain a minimum of 2500 words.

The Teacher Performance Expectations identified above are addressed in EDMS 544 through class discussions, activities, oral/visual presentations, and written assignments.

ASSIGNMENTS

Detailed instructions and rubrics for course assignments will be available electronically and discussed in class. These assignments include both individual and group projects.

□ Reading Response

The assigned readings provide an important foundation for your increasing understanding of how to effectively teach social studies. To aid you in remembering the readings, and assist you with meaningful class participation, you are asked to respond to each reading assignment by coming to class with your book highlighted, and or stickie-marked, prepared to discuss, ask questions and/or answer open-ended prompts about assigned readings. In order to prepare for this, consider the following for your notes and "bookmarks":

(2) key points from the reading (you may include quotes),

(3) how the reading connects to your own perspective/ experiences,

(4) one question that the reading assignment prompts you to ask after thinking deeper about the issue.

□ Finding the Social Studies in You! A Physical Model (Individual)

Have you ever tried to explain who you are through six of the eight social studies disciplines? For this assignment you will reintroduce yourself to a small group in our class by creating a physical model illustrating aspects of you through each of the disciplines. You may use photographs, drawings, cutouts, objects, your imagination, etc. This activity

vidual) Pass/Fail

ss/Fail (Professionalism)

models a way to engage your students, and will demonstrate your awareness of the disciplines. Aim to present for 4-5 minutes.

Unit Plan (Group)

As a group you will create a social studies unit using a backward design model. Within this standards-based unit you will describe the Big Ideas, Critical Issues, Skills, Facts, and Concepts involved, and plan assessments that drive the design of the learning activities.

The following assignments/learning activities will link together and create a well-developed social studies unit:

□ Literature Connection (Individual with group presentation)

Community Resource / Field Trip Project (Group)

A wealth of children's literature exists that strongly supports the state standards for teaching social studies, language arts, and is conducive to the integration of visual and performing arts. This assignment will serve as the introduction to your unit. You will select one children's literature book appropriate for the grade level unit you will be developing with your group. You will be required to write a lesson plan that incorporates this book, and is driven by clear assessments. This lesson will most likely be implemented as the "hook" for the unit. Your group will be required to give a presentation which includes the grade level theme, overall big idea of your unit, and how all of your books can be used to advance children's thinking about the key social studies concepts of your unit. (more details to come)

In this assignment you will explore and share information about a field trip site in San Diego County. By designing a variety of pre, during, and post-trip teaching activities, you will be able to plan an educational (rather than purely recreational) field trip that incorporates the arts in order to enhance understandings within your unit (more details to come).

□ Oral History Project (Group)

Collecting oral histories is an exciting way to help children understand that "history" is found all around us and is continually created. You will plan an oral history project for your students addressing the essential issues of your unit. The project will include higher order thinking, and an organized plan of instruction before during and after the oral history interview.

OR

□ Technology Project (Group)

Students are motivated by technology, and many units can be enhanced through technology projects. For this project you will create a webquest relating to the unit and a lesson describing the learning goals and processes involved within student use of technology.

Mock Interview

Imagine you are at a job interview and were just asked: "How will you teach social studies in your classroom?" Knowing how to teach and structure learning in social studies, and then being able to express your understanding, can be two different abilities. In order to help you eloquently articulate the knowledge you have gained through this course, as well as enhance your educational philosophy, you will participate in a mock interview. Be prepared to describe unit grade level themes as described in the History Social Science Framework, and effective methods for teaching social studies.
