College of Education Mission Statement

The mission of the College of Education Community is to collaboratively transform public education by preparing thoughtful educators and advancing professional practices. We are committed to diversity, educational equity, and social justice, exemplified through reflective teaching, life-long learning, innovative research and on-going service. Our practices demonstrate a commitment to student-centered education, diversity, collaboration, professionalism, and shared governance. (Adopted by COE Governance Community, October, 1997).

Course Description

Required of all credential candidates. Principles of first and second language acquisition (e.g., historical and current theories, psychology, sociocultural, political and pedagogical factors) and issues related to notions of culture, interaction and communication in school and community contexts (e.g., the nature of culture, manifestations of cultural contact and cultural diversity in the United States and in California within a theoretical and applied context. (CSUSM General Catalog 2004-2006, p. 246).

Prerequisites: None

Objectives: The Catalog course description above is amplified in that this course explores cultural and linguistic diversity as critical variables in achieving educational equity for all students. Major units within the description above include intensive theoretical and practical articulation of culture and cultural pluralism; educational issues of race, class, gender, language, ethnicity, sexual orientation and exceptionality; social, structural, programmatic and curricular issues; and effective teaching for diverse populations. Therefore, candidates completing EDUC 464 will be able to demonstrate knowledge, skills and dispositions (e.g., attitudes and commitments) indicating:

1. mastery of the Teacher Performance Expectation, TPE 15;
2. mastery of standards for English learners as indicated in the course alignment with SB 2042 (formerly CLAD);
3. understanding of various concepts of culture and their applicability to learning, teaching, curricular development and educational reform;
4. understanding of the historical and contemporary contexts for multicultural and multilingual education;

5. familiarity with second language acquisition theory and the role of the primary language in developing second language fluency;
6. ability to provide a safe environment for reflection on, and discussion of, the complex ways in which pluralism is a part of educational contexts;
7. ability to provide support to all students who represent national, state, and regional diversity;
8. gaining experience working with “at risk” children and/or young people;
9. emerging positive attitudes, motivations and commitments to all diverse students (“race”, class, gender, language, ethnicity, sexual orientation and exceptionality) regardless of prior socialization patterns and life experiences;
10. ability to report, interpret, analyze and synthesize complex information; and,
11. university-level competence in information literacy, use of technology and oral and written communication.

Unique Course Requirements: Candidates enrolled in this class are required to participate in the unique and vital educational experience organized by CSUSM’s College of Education and the Casey Foundation. This involves visiting, observing and tutoring a foster child in the local community. This experience is designed to have you gain invaluable experience with non-traditional, “at risk” kids.

This experience will count as 20 hours towards the required minimum 45 hours of classroom observation required by the State of California, and CSUSM, BEFORE you are accepted into CSUSM’s Teacher Licensure Program. The additional 25 hours must be completed in EDUC 350, unless otherwise waived.

Community Service Learning is an integral part of this class. Community Service Learning engages students in active learning experiences that enhance classroom instructional activities, while addressing social, economic, political, health, and environmental needs of people in the community. Students learn while doing and while reflecting on what they do.

Required Texts

Authorization to Teach English Learners

This credential program has been specifically designed to prepare teachers for the diversity of languages often encountered in California public school classrooms. The authorization to teach English learners is met through the infusion of content and experiences within the credential program, as well as additional coursework. Students successfully completing this program receive a credential with authorization to teach English learners.

(Approved by CCTC in SB 2042 Program Standards, August 02)

Teacher Performance Expectation (TPE) Competencies

The course objectives, assignments, and assessments have been aligned with the CTC standards for all Credential programs offered by the CSUSM College of Education. This course is designed to help teachers seeking a California teaching credential to develop the skills, knowledge, and attitudes necessary to assist schools and district in implementing effective programs for all students. The successful candidate will be able to merge theory and practice in order to realize a comprehensive and extensive educational program for all students. You will be required to formally address the following TPE in this course:

TPE 15: Social Justice and Equity

Teacher candidates will be able to identify issues of social justice and equity in the classroom and can apply appropriate instructional strategies to ensure equal outcomes for diverse students. They will be familiar with ideas, definitions, and major theorists in the fields of multicultural education, social reconstruction, and democratic education. Pluralism and divergent perspectives on educating students will be the foundation of designing effective lessons and instructional practices for diverse students. Candidates will understand when and how to collaborate with others, especially curriculum specialists, community leaders, and parents on preparing relevant and appropriate instructional activities, curricular units, and school structures that would provide equitable outcomes for students from different linguistic, cultural, and social economic backgrounds.

Alignment of Teacher Education Standards to Foster Student Learning

In our preparation of professional educators, we have given extensive consideration to the alignment of professional standards and assessments as articulated by professional associations, certification agencies and learned societies. Emphasis is placed on learning outcomes (what you know and can demonstrate) rather than on inputs (putting in “seat time”, meeting minimum criteria for assignments, checking off tasks and activities), and how these outcomes correspond to your potential to enhance student learning as a new teacher. In particular, this course is informed by and aligned with the standards and principles of the:

- National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE)
- Interstate New Teacher Assessment and Support Consortium (INTASC)
- National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS)
- National Association for Multicultural Education (NAME); and the
- California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC)

College of Education Attendance Policy

Due to the dynamic and interactive nature of courses in the College of Education, all students are expected to attend all classes and participate actively. At a minimum, students must attend more than 80% of class time, or s/he may not receive a passing grade for the course at the discretion of the instructor. Individual instructors may adopt more stringent attendance requirements. Should the student have extenuating circumstances, s/he should contact the instructor as soon as possible. (Adopted by the COE Governance Community, December, 1997).

Ability

Every student has the right to equitable educational consideration and appropriate accommodation. Students having differing ability (mobility, sight, hearing, documented learning challenges, first language/English as a second language) are requested to contact the professor at the earliest opportunity. Every effort will be made to accommodate special needs. Students are reminded of the availability of the Writing Center, technology assistance in the computer labs, and other student support services available as part of reasonable accommodation for special needs students in addition to those of DSS (see below).

Students with Disabilities Requiring Reasonable Accommodations

Students must be approved for services by providing appropriate and recent documentation to the Office of Disabled Student Services (DSS). This office is located in Craven Hall 5205, and can be contacted by phone at (760) 750-4905, or TTY (760) 750-4909. Students authorized by DSS to receive reasonable accommodations should meet with their instructor during office hours or, in order to ensure confidentiality, in a more private setting.

Course Requirements

Please read these assignments in detail. You will note that I ask you for specific information to be addressed in each assignment. Completing all elements of the assignment will earn a passing grade, whereas missing elements may not allow a passing grade, depending on the magnitude of the omission. A grade of "C+" or higher requires you to exceed the minimum in substantive ways, as indicated in the grading requirements.

All assignments are due on the dates indicated. Written assignments must be word processed, double-spaced, paginated, and have 1" margins on all sides. Your name and the CRN for your section must appear at the top right of the first page, except as noted for the research paper assignment. Page limitations are not given as writing styles differ. You are expected to make your written assignments as long (or as short) as it takes you to respond to all elements of the assignment and make your point(s). It is expected that all assignments will reflect university-level composition and exposition (e.g., an average of more than one structural error per page means no higher than a "C" for that component). Use of electronic spelling and grammar checking is encouraged. All assignments address critical variables in meeting Teacher Performance Expectation 15.

1. Personal History	15 pts.	Due Week 6
2. Group Research Paper/Presentation	30 pts.	Due Week 13
3. Tutoring Journal	15 pts.	Due Weeks 8 &15
4. World Language Acquisition	15 pts.	Due Week 10
5. Outcome Assessment	15 pts.	Due Week 15
6. Attendance and Participation	10 pts.	Due Week 15

1. Personal History. (15 points).

The purpose of this assignment is to provide you the opportunity to examine your own background, culture, community and the development of your cultural world view. Write a narrative essay about your own life, describing the experiences that have shaped your views of "race", culture, and issues of diversity. Reflect on your own experiences in terms of your cultural reference, your family background, your interactions with others unlike yourself, and other factors determined by your own circumstances and your upbringing. In this assignment, you will explore within yourself, and commit to written form:

- (1) your identity as a learner (e.g., impact of learning style, multiple intelligence, how you see your role, obligations and status in your learning experiences)
- (2) your identity as a member of a particular cultural/racial/ethnic group, and
- (3) how these two factors individually and collectively affect your potential as a teacher. What do you think you should reinforce and what do you think you should change in your knowledge, skills, and attitudes in order to be an effective teacher?

Include SPECIFIC examples of events and situations that you feel shaped your views on these issues. Be sure to situate your examples in the context of assumptions about schooling and education. To the extent possible, relate your experiences to the theory and praxis in readings, class discussions and activities. Be prepared to share your paper in small group and larger class discussions during Session 6 on 2/21 .

2. Group Research Paper and Presentation. (20 points written/10 points oral).

In heterogeneous groups, you will develop, as a group, a research paper on an issue of significance in the field of multicultural education, which you will formally present to the class. The topic must be approved by the professor. Your research must include at least 3 sources from the ERIC database, at least 3 sources from the Internet, at least 3 print media sources, and at least one of the texts used in class. References must be exclusive of one another. These are the minimum requirements for an acceptable grade, therefore superior grades require greater breadth and depth of research.

The group's paper will include:

1. a cover page listing the title, a 2-3 paragraph/200 word abstract, and full names of all group members,
2. a narrative that describes the issue, including its historical context,
3. a description of why the issue is significant in the field of education, especially (but not exclusively) as it relates to foster children, or diverse students observed in school or community research,
4. your position on the issue and why you have taken that position,
5. a defense (rationale) for taking the position with appropriate references,
6. a conclusion regarding the issue, with recommendations for action,
7. an annotated bibliography of all references consulted, and
8. attachments such as your visual aids for the presentation, graphic organizers, or any supplementary material developed to enhance student learning.

The length of the paper is determined by the degree to which you articulate the requirements outlined above. Depth of analysis is more important than providing in-depth description. In other words, your paper should answer WHY and HOW, more importantly than WHO, WHAT, WHEN, or WHERE. The paper should be stapled together, and not placed in any kind of binder. Please put your effort into articulating the issues, not developing a time-consuming, computer-generated cover. All papers are due Week 13 on 4/18, regardless of the day of your scheduled presentation.

Your panel presentation will be 20 minutes in length. You will present a synopsis of your issue, accompanied by appropriate learning aids. The mode of presentation may include skits, simulations, debate, Socratic dialogue, or some other form of multi-modal presentation (PowerPoint, as example). You are cautioned NOT to read from the text of your paper. In addition to the 20 minute presentation, you will plan to respond to questions for no more than 10 minutes. Therefore, your group should be prepared to be “on” for 1/2 hour. It is a group responsibility to practice and time the presentation and Q & A session: presentations which are more than 3 minutes long or short of these parameters will have the grade reduced appropriately. At the time of your presentation, you will provide each classmate and the professor with a stapled handout, which includes Items 1, 7 and 8, above. Due 4/16 & 4/25

3. Tutoring Journal (15 points).

You will maintain a private (secured) tutoring Journal to be submitted electronically as a Word file. This is an ongoing activity for you, requiring a reflective assessment of each tutorial you provide for your assigned foster child. You will provide a (1.) synopsis of your tutorial, (2.) an analysis of its effectiveness, (3.) any challenges, questions, insights developing from the interaction, and (4.) what you learned from the interaction that would be applicable to you as a classroom teacher. First half of journals due Session 8, on 3/7 : Second half of journals due Session 15, 5/2.

4. World Language Acquisition. (15 points).

Watch at least one hour of film/video/TV presented in a language of which you have no knowledge. In a written report of your experience, present a synopsis of what you viewed/heard, and articulate in detail (A) How did the different language make you feel? (e.g., curiosity, anger, frustration, humor); (B) What helped you comprehend in this new language? (non-verbal communication, music, background knowledge, other cultural “cues”); (C) From what strategies might ELL students benefit in order to make material comprehensible in a new language? Due Session 10, 3/21

5. Outcome Assessment. (15 points).

This is your opportunity to examine your own learning. You will select the most important learning or closely related set of learning you have acquired during the course. You will write in detail:

- (1) what you learned,
- (2) how you knew you were learning something of significance (assessing your own learning),
- (3) how this learning is meaningfully connected to your experiences while tutoring foster children or conducting observation research
- (4) how this will shape your attitudes and behaviors as a teacher or in future intercultural interaction, and
- (5) how you will demonstrate overall “cultural competence” (as this definition is developed in class)

Emphasis is placed on your ability to synthesize data around the topic you select, your depth of reflective analysis, your ability to articulate the cognitive, behavioral and affective domains of your learning, and the relationship of this topic to your future growth and professional practice. Final outcome assessments are due on the last class day. Due Session 15, 5/2.

Attendance and Participation. (10 points).

Daily reflections, Quickwrite activities, participation in dialogue and other in-class assignments are counted as part of the participation points as are attendance, punctuality and active engagement in class dynamics. Assessed Session 15, 5/2

Grading Standards

Grading Scale: A=93+, A-=90-92, B+= 87-89, B=83-86, B-= 80-82, C+=77-79, C=73-76, C-= 70-72, D+=67-69, D=63-66, D-= 60-62, F=59 or lower Students taking EDUC 364 as a prerequisite for teacher credential and graduate programs are reminded that the College requires completion of this course with a C+ or higher.

Submission Schedule: Work submitted late, but within one week of the due date will be reduced by one letter grade. Work received over one week late will receive no credit.

Grading Emphasis: Each written assignment will be graded approximately 85% on content and context (detail, logic, professional reflection, synthesis of information, depth of analysis, etc.), and 15% on mechanics (grammar, syntax, spelling, format, uniformity of citation, etc.). All citations, where appropriate, will use APA format. Consult Library Services for the Manual of Citation of the American Psychological Association, or other guides to citation such as www.apastyle.org/index.html

Summative Assessment Rubric

A=Exceeds Expectations: The student consistently performs and participates in an exemplary manner. Each assignment receives in-depth exploration and reflection based upon research, observations and classroom implementation, when possible. All work is submitted in a professional manner using APA style when appropriate. Presentations are consistent with professional expectations, providing appropriate visual aids, appropriate handouts, and are well prepared. Professional and responsible behavior, including timely attendance and submission of assignments, are practiced in a consistent manner.

B=Adequately Meets Expectations: The student meets outcomes expectations in a satisfactory manner. Each assignment is based upon research, observations and classroom implementation, when possible. Generally, work is submitted in a professional manner using APA style when appropriate. Generally, presentations are consistent with professional expectations, providing appropriate visual aids, appropriate handouts, and are well prepared. Most of the time, professional and responsible behavior, including timely attendance and submission of assignments, are practiced in a consistent manner.

C=Minimal Performance: The student's skills are weak and do not meet expectations. Each assignment is based upon opinion rather than research, theory, and best practices. Reflection is shallow. Assignments are submitted without APA style, thorough proofreading and organization. The student needs a great deal of guidance. The student is consistently late with work and has classroom attendance problems.

“D” or “F” students fail to meet the minimum requirements of a “C.” The specific grade will be computed from rate of assignment completion, attendance, etc.

Appeals: Every student has the right to appeal grades, or appeal for redress of grievances incurred in the context of any course. Disputes may be resolved informally with the professor, or through the formal appeal process. For the latter, consult the Associate Dean, Dr. Peggy Kelly.

All University Writing Requirement

The university writing requirement is 2500 words, or approximately 7 pages of double-spaced text averaging 15 words per line in a document with one inch margins. In order to achieve a passing grade, the five writing assignments (Personal History, Journal/Individual Research, Language Acquisition Assignment, Group Research Paper and Outcome Assessment) will exceed that minimum requirement. A minimum page requirement for each assignment is not given, as candidates' writing styles are different. To specify a limit or a range for written assignments might privilege (or penalize) a candidate, according to her/his written communication style. The emphasis in all written communication in this course is effectiveness in presenting one's point, position, perspective, knowledge, understanding, empathy and/or meaning-making. . . not the lengths to which one does that.

CSUSM Academic Honesty Policy

"Students will be expected to adhere to standards of academic honesty and integrity, as outlined in the Student Academic Honesty Policy. All written work and oral assignments must be original work. All ideas/materials that are borrowed from other sources must have appropriate references to the original sources. Any quoted material should give credit to the source and be punctuated with quotation marks.

Students are responsible for honest completion of their work including examinations. There will be no tolerance for infractions. If you believe there has been an infraction by someone in the class, please bring it to the instructor's attention. The instructor reserves the right to discipline any student for academic dishonesty in accordance with the general rules and regulations of the university. Disciplinary action may include the lowering of grades and/or the assignment of a failing grade for an exam, assignment, or the class as a whole."

Schedule/Course Outline

Candidates are reminded that the schedule is tentative and subject to change. All classes differ in candidate composition, ability levels and background preparation. Some topics may require additional articulation in order for credential candidates to make meaning of specific topical material. It is more important to build understanding and meaning-making than it is to cover all chapters and all topics. Therefore, the professor reserves the academic freedom to modify this calendar of topics to enhance the learning process.

Multicultural shaping of teachers

Washington Times 12-15-2004

By Robert Holland

Most American parents would be outraged if they knew how the education world's multiculturalists are trying to shape new teachers before they go to work in public schools.

Surveys by the nonpartisan organization Public Agenda have shown that parents still believe in America as an overwhelmingly good country, and they want their children to believe that as well. A Public Agenda report a few years ago summarized parental attitudes this way:

"We found a clear-eyed patriotism among parents of all backgrounds; a deep belief that the United States is a unique nation, while acknowledging its faults. Parents want the schools to face those faults, but not to dwell on them — the parents we surveyed want history taught with fairness to all groups, but recoil from strategies that they feared might encourage divisiveness."

The multiculturalists, by stark contrast, do not see the United States at all as a good country with common values worth transmitting. They grossly divide Americans into "oppressors" (all whites of European descent) and the "oppressed" (all persons of color from minority cultures).

Howard Zinn's "A People's History of the United States," a 750-page screed that depicts America as a continuing centuries-old conspiracy of rich white men to exploit minorities, is their hornbook. Many use it in their classrooms to demean America's Founders.

They want to mold future teachers into agents of social transformation who will reject the continuing Anglo/Western influences on the core curriculum and denounce what they contend is a legacy of unrelenting oppression that should cause all white Americans to carry a heavy burden of guilt.

That much becomes clear when the National Association for Multicultural Education (NAME) convenes annually (as it did recently in Kansas City), and professors and teachers from all 50 states gather in more than 200 workshops to lay bare their agendas.

Veteran teacher-trainer G. Pritchey Smith of the University of North Florida, who co-conducted a day-long NAME institute on how schools of education should meet diversity standards for accreditation, argues for a "culturally responsible" pedagogy for teacher education that will enable teachers to carry a "social reconstructionist perspective" into the classroom.

His goal: "People who live multicultural lifestyles, live multicultural ways. We need a deep-rooted transformation of values and dispositions — the multicultural teacher."

This is how the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), a NAME partner, defines diversity: "Differences among groups of people and individuals based on ethnicity, race, socioeconomic status, gender, exceptionalities, language, religion, sexual orientation, and geographical area."

At a small-group workshop this year, presenters from Central Missouri State University argued that teachers should be trained to rewrite a curriculum they view as oppressively Eurocentric.

In a prepared paper, they declared: "The silent but deadly oppressor of the ethnic minority child's spirit is a state of injustice that is imbedded in ... a one-sided truth espoused through the Eurocentric lens of American education." They concluded that the "only hope" for change "lies in the embrace of an educational system that can transform and restructure the political imbalance of curriculum practices in the American schools.

"Teachers must get educational training that empowers them with knowledge about their ethnic minority students so that they can feel committed and confident in unleashing the voices for social justice."

Their hearts bled in particular for English-language learners, the immigrant children who now constitute one-tenth of the U.S. school population. As did others at this conference, the presenters were bitter at inroads made in federal and state law to jettison so-called bilingual education in favor of English immersion.

At a general session, one California activist wailed that "[immigrant] families are torn apart by children who no longer share their language and culture." What to do? She said new teachers should be taught to "resist," to take back the curriculum.

Is that what parents who have come here to the land of opportunity from other lands really want? Public Agenda found that immigrant parents joined other parents in a strong belief that "the schools must teach immigrant children to speak English as quickly as possible, both as a survival skill and as a symbol of their intent to become Americans."

Clearly the multiculturalists care little about what the people who provide their schools with children and money — the parents and taxpayers — want from public education.

ARTICLE 3.5. MASTER PLAN FOR EDUCATION: HIGHER EDUCATION PROVISIONS

Professional Preparation for Educators

66026. It is the intent of the Legislature that:

(a) The state increase the capacity of California's postsecondary education system to prepare larger and more sufficient numbers of qualified educators, especially from among racial, ethnic, and linguistic groups, and the gender group, that are underrepresented in today's teaching workforce, for our public schools and preschools, particularly in regions where there are large numbers of teachers serving on emergency permits or where projected shortages of teachers are greatest.

(b) The state's postsecondary institutions continue to provide and support multiple pathways for candidates to earn credentials, in order to meet the need for qualified educators.

(c) The state provide sufficient resources to postsecondary educational institutions to meet the goal of producing sufficient numbers of qualified educators and the goal of providing and supporting multiple pathways for candidates to earn credentials.

66026.5 It is the intent of the Legislature to ensure that ten days of professional staff development eventually be provided at all public elementary and secondary schools. It is further the intent of the Legislature that additional resources to reach this goal be first provided to schools in the lowest three deciles of the Academic Performance Index.

Faculty in Public Postsecondary Institutions

66027. (a) The Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges and the Trustees of the California State University shall, and the Regents of the University of California are requested to, accomplish both of the following:

(1) Examine practices and adopt policies regarding the balance of temporary and permanent/tenure-track faculty characteristic of their respective systems.

(2) Report these practices and policies, and the rationales therefor, in written reports to the Legislature, to be submitted no later than January 1, 2006.

(b) It is the intent of the Legislature that the goal of the California Community Colleges to ensure that at least 75 percent of the hours of credit instruction be taught by full-time instructors remain a goal and should be achieved, pursuant to Section 87482.6. Nothing in this section shall relieve the California Community Colleges from achieving the goal of having at least 75 percent of the hours of credit instruction be taught by full-time instructors.

66027.3 The Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges and the Trustees of the California State University shall, and the Regents of the University of California are requested to, submit an annual report to the Legislature setting forth the ratio of permanent/tenure-track faculty to temporary faculty who are employed by their respective systems and how this ratio compares to their respective system-wide policies.

66027.5 (a) No later than January 1, 2006, the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges and the Trustees of the California State University shall, and the Regents of the University of California are requested to, submit a report to the Legislature on the activities reserved for permanent/tenure-track faculty in their respective systems and the reasons why these activities are so designated.

(b) It is the intent of the Legislature that the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges, the Trustees of the California State University, and the Regents of the University of California should provide pro rata compensation to temporary faculty. The Legislature recognizes that the determination of appropriate activities for temporary faculty for the purposes of pro-rata compensation is subject to negotiations at the district level in the California Community Colleges.

66027.7 It is the intent of the Legislature that the Trustees of the California State University, and the Regents of the University of California, respectively, should direct examinations of faculty promotion, tenure, and review policies and practices, and revise them, as needed, to ensure that teaching excellence is given significant weight in decisions regarding promotion and tenure and that affect the compensation awarded to faculty.

RN 0417289 Renumbers the following as Section 1 of the bill. Please identify an appropriate code section number, and codify this language:

SECTION 7.

Section XXXX is added to the Education Code, to read:

(codify) (a) It is the intent of the Legislature to establish professional development activities that reward exceptional teachers for continuing to render service in a classroom.

(b) (1) It is the intent of the Legislature that school districts, professional associations, and postsecondary educational institutions collaborate to develop and offer preparation and degree or credential programs that will prepare highly qualified elementary and secondary school educational leaders, particularly school principals, in numbers sufficient to meet the needs of schools and school districts.

(2) It is the intent of the Legislature that school districts, professional associations, and postsecondary educational institutions collaborate to identify and recruit candidates, including those from underrepresented groups and from a broad array of disciplines, to those preparation programs and to the educational leadership positions they serve.

(3) It is the intent of the Legislature that appropriate incentives, support, and assistance be made available to attract well-qualified educational leaders to administrative positions in schools ranking in the lowest 3 deciles of the Academic Performance Index and to retain them in those schools, or district positions that directly serve these schools.

(4) It is the intent of the Legislature that the California State University and the University of California develop technologically delivered professional development and coursework for teachers in geographically isolated areas.

(c) (1) It is the intent of the Legislature that the California State University and University of California develop and offer preparation and professional development programs for community college leadership, including the establishment of a center devoted to community college leadership development, that will prepare college leaders in numbers sufficient to meet the needs of community colleges and districts. It is further the intent of the Legislature that existing programs, including public-private partnerships that provide these leadership programs, continue to provide programs to meet the needs of colleges and districts. It is further the intent of the Legislature that the California State University and the University of California partner with the California Community Colleges in the development of those programs to ensure that they meet the needs of colleges and districts.

(2) It is the intent of the Legislature that the California Community Colleges improve the terms and conditions of administrative employment in community colleges, by providing a qualified administrator with the right to be reinstated to a permanent faculty position at the campus at which he or she is employed as an administrator, if the administrator previously held a tenured faculty position with the California Community Colleges and has not held a faculty position for less than six years, as an incentive to attract outstanding professionals to community college leadership positions.

(d) (1) It is the intent of the Legislature to provide every pupil attending public school in California the benefits of effective, results-based school counseling programs designed to meet their academic, career, personal, and social needs at all grade levels. Because the realization of these benefits for every pupil entails the hiring of additional school counselors and pupil services personnel and the provision of quality staff development programs designed to address new educational demands and expanding pupil needs effectively, it is further the intent of the Legislature that school districts and postsecondary educational institutions collaborate to develop and offer preparation and professional development programs that will prepare fully credentialed counselors and pupil support services personnel to provide academic, psychological, and career guidance to pupils and students, in numbers sufficient to meet the needs of California's schools and colleges.

(2) It is the intent of the Legislature that school districts and postsecondary educational institutions collaborate to identify and recruit candidates to those counseling preparation programs and to employment in the counseling profession.

SECTION 8. Notwithstanding Section 17610 of the Government Code, if the Commission on State Mandates determines that this act contains costs mandated by the state, reimbursement to local agencies and school districts for those costs shall be made pursuant to Part 7 (commencing with Section 17500) of Division 4 of Title 2 of the Government Code. If the statewide cost of the claim for reimbursement does not exceed one million dollars ($1,000,000), reimbursement shall be made from the State Mandates Claims Fund.
