Part A: C1 Arts General Education Learning Outcomes (GELOs) related to course content. [Please type responses into the tables.]

Arts GELOs this course will address:	Course content that addresses each GELO.	How will these GELOs be assessed?
C1.1 Students will describe the ways in which art informs us of issues of diversity (such as race, class and gender) in a global, national or local context.	The textbook, lectures and class discussions/group work cover historical and contemporary art movements and artists whose work focus on issues of diversity.	Exams, pop quizzes and final paper, collage art project
C1.2: Students will apply theoretical and/or critical perspective to the study of art past and present.	Throughout the semester students practice analyzing works of art during class time. The approach is integrative focusing on how the visual qualities combine with content and context to create the meaning of the work	Exams, field trip discussions and reports, class group work and discussion, final paper
C1.3: Students will recognize and explain various artistic styles from diverse cultures and peoples.	The first part of the course introduces the visual elements and design principles. Images used for this segment are carefully selected to include work from diverse time periods and cultures. The second half of the course is about context and discusses art history briefly including varied cultures and peoples	Exams, field trip discussions and reports, analytical class assignments and group work, final paper
C1.4: Students will use appropriate vocabulary to describe and analyze works of artistic expression within the historical context in which the work was created.	The first half of the class is entirely focused on acquiring and using subject appropriate vocabulary introduced by textbook and lecture.	Exams, field trip discussions and reports, class group work, final paper and final art project (they write how the image they created demonstrates the visual elements or design principles)
C1.5: Articulate various theoretical principles in their analysis of works in the arts and humanities. [Methods courses]	N/A
C1.6: Use relevant research methods to analyze and interpret works in the arts and humanities. [Methods courses]	N/A
C1.7: Students will create works of art that demonstrate facility with the key techniques of the art form in question. These courses will be taught face-to- face, rather than online. [Creative Activity Courses]	While this is primarily a large lecture course it includes hands on segments such as simple drawing exercises and photography. Students have a choice to create a hands-on final project.	Art exercises and final art project

SYLLABUS VSAR 120:

Cougar Courses: you will be able to access this course and find the syllabus as well as all assignments on CC. You will not receive paper handouts but will need to download assignments from CC. In addition, you will use the Web Site to receive announcements and messages and to communicate with me so please check in on a regular basis. If you have questions about content please contact me but if you have technical difficulties with CC please contact the student helpdesk at Kellogg Library Room 2013, 760.750.6505, sth@csusm.edu (http://www.csusm.edu/iits/ids/

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Throughout history art has served as a tool for survival and as nourishment for the soul. It is a uniquely human endeavor that can help us gain insight into our own experiences as well as those of others. Art reflects the time and place in which it was created and it intersects with other areas of human knowledge and spheres of activity. In this course you will be actively involved in the viewing and analysis of works of art. You will explore the historical contexts that gave rise to some of the themes, ideas and styles that make up the traditions of the visual arts as well as the practice of contemporary artists through slide lectures, assigned reading, museum visits, class discussions, occasional videos and hands-on projects.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Upon completion of this course you will be able to:

- 1. Understand and use the vocabulary of visual arts (visual elements and design principles) to analyze the style and content of art from any period or culture
- 2. Apply theoretical and/or critical perspective to the study of art past and present
- 3. Describe the ways in which art informs us of issues of diversity (such as race, class and gender) in a global, national or local context
- 4. Relate to art of different times and places in a direct and personal way by understanding how art reflects its historical and cultural context and mirrors human experience (including your own)
- 5. Make connections between art and other spheres of human knowledge and endeavors such as science, philosophy, economics, etc.
- 6. Link sensual observation and intellectual interpretation by practicing the observational and analytical skills you acquired through fieldtrip reports, art projects, paper writing and more.
- 7. Create your own art project
- 8. Enjoy and derive meaning from any art that you encounter though your broadened knowledge, understanding and appreciation of the visual arts.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

Classes will consist of lectures with supporting art images, videos and class discussions. Lectures will be based on the textbook but will include additional materials.

ТЕХТВООК

The required text for this course is Preble's Artforms, 11th edition by Patrick Frank; published by Pearson. Readings will be due before the relevant lecture as indicated by the semester timeline.

POP QUIZZES: These are short, surprise quizzes on the reading that will occur randomly throughout the semester. Please make sure to read the appropriate chapters before each class.

EXAMS: There will be two exams covering readings, lectures, videos, and fieldtrips. THERE WILL BE NO MAKE-UP EXAMS SCHEDULED.

HANDS-ON PROJECTS: one-two art projects exploring concepts covered in class

Final Project:

You can select to write a paper or to create an art project for your final project. You will receive handouts and preparation for both options.

PAPER: This is descriptive analysis of a work of art chosen from one of the fieldtrip exhibits (the paper is about direct observation and cannot be based on reproductions). You will use the terms and concepts that you have studied throughout the semester. There will be thorough preparation and review before the paper is due.

CREATIVE ART PROJECT: Design with a lens is a project where you design a small book with photographs that you take specifically for this assignment demonstrating specific design components with written analysis. You will use the terms and concepts that you have studied throughout the semester. There will be thorough preparation and review before the deadline.

GROUP WORK AND IN CLASS DISCUSSIONS: The groups will get small assignments such as preparing discussion questions based on the reading and completing assignments during field trips. All students will be expected to participate in discussions.

IN ADDITION TO LECTURES, READINGS, QUIZZES, EXAMS AND PAPER YOU WILL COMPLETE SOME OUTSIDE ASSIGNMENTS THAT WILL EXPOSE YOU TO ART VIEWING AND ART MAKING.

FIELD TRIPS: The class will include two field trips to exhibitions in San Diego. We will discuss the logistics and timing for the field trips. These trips will involve group work and discussions on the site. I ask you to attend the field trips with the group so please make arrangement now for the days indicated. If there is an emergency and you are not able to attend with the group you will have to attend by yourself and complete writing assignments on the fieldtrip by a given due date.

CLASSROOM AND ATTENDANCE REQUIREMENTS

Attendance You are an adult and have the responsibility to decide whether you attend class. However, attendance is essential to success in this class. There is material covered in class that is not in the textbook and will be tested on the examinations. Therefore not showing up for class will diminish your chance of passing this course. If you have perfect (or near perfect) attendance in class you receive extra credit.

Withdrawal: Students are responsible for withdrawing from the course before the third week drop deadline. If you have not dropped by then you will receive a letter grade at the end of the semester. The instructor will only drop students who have missed the first two class meetings.

Classroom behavior: Please sit in the center section of this room. If you arrive late sit in the back; do not disturb your fellow students or the instructor by walking in front of them. Chronic late arrival or early departure is unacceptable. It shows disrespect for fellow students, the instructor and yourself. Enrollment in college assumes maturity, seriousness of purpose and self-discipline. Disruptive behavior in the classroom will result in expulsion from the class. Disruptive behavior includes (but is not limited to): receiving pager, beeper or cell phone calls, leaving and returning for reasons other than an emergency, private conversations with classmates, repeated tardiness, sleeping, doing homework or any other extraneous activity in class. (Please turn off all personal electronics).

Academic Honesty: I expect that you are familiar with the rules of honest academic conduct. Plagiarism means copying the work of others without acknowledgment. This includes copying the work of other students. We will discuss this issue and everyone is expected to follow guidelines.

Special needs: Students with disabilities who may need accommodations in this class are encouraged to notify the instructor and contact Disabled Student Services (DSS) early in the semester so that reasonable accommodations may be implemented as soon as possible. Students may contact DSS in person in Craven Hall, Suite 5205 or by phone at 760-750-4905 or 760-750-4909 (TTY).
